EMES founder Bob Barry spent more than 35 years as a career firefighter, as Assistant Chief of the CFA and was awarded the National Emergency Medal recognizing service to others through the brutal 2009 Victorian fires. Managing over 262 Fire Brigades, he is no stranger to the importance of process and implementation.

Bob and the team at EMES have an eye for detail and structure that only exists with decades of experience. Who better to trust the safety of your event than one of Australia's most experienced safety advisors?

Bob has spent his career as a pivotal person in crisis management; he understands the criteria, and the critical need to minimize and monitor risks. What does this mean for you? It means you can concentrate on having the best event possible while Essential EMES takes care of the complexities of Event Risk Management.

Essential EMES uses their brand of Emergency Matrix auditing and has strong connections to the Digital Technology sector, which means you can have the very latest tech at your fingertips if needed.

Impressive and simple.
